

Induproof

Induproof

InduProof® is our brand for keyboards and operating components, which are based on the use of silicone. The spectrum ranges from individually produced silicone mat keyboards to silicone keyboards with IP68 protection rating. As part of the InduKey brand family, "InduProof" stands for comfortable operations and hygienic safety.

The brand's wording consists of "Indu", which universally stands for "industry" or "industrial", like all the initial syllables within the brand family; "Proof" signifies silicone's high degree of resistance to liquids, chemical substances and dust.

All the products and solutions within this brand are developed and assembled at our company headquarters. Because of its pleasant switching features and its high degree of resistance, these items are used in many applications and sectors. For example, we supply silicone mat keyboards for insertion in mobile terminals or in machines and plant. We have enjoyed success for years in the hygiene and medical sectors with our keyboard versions that are completely encased.
