Products

When it comes to "Products", we offer an extensive range of ready-for-use data input devices that we purchase from a wide variety of suppliers. They include keyboards, cursor controls, touchscreens, decoders and other functional components to satisfy any requirement.

Customisation

In terms of "customisation", we make available our complete service package for personalised data input systems. They range from operating components to control panels and we even make complex equipment, developing and manufacturing it in line with your specifications.

Areas of expertise

As far as "areas of expertise" are concerned, we enable you to gain access to individual services and production stages. For example, we provide R&D services and extensive production work – assembling printed circuit boards, for example.
